INTRODUCTION:

It is an academic project allotted to us to showcase our website development skills. And it was done by a team of students, pursuing B.Tech CSE.

Objective:

- To design a booking management system website
- To use the concepts of HTML , CSS and JAVASCRIPT

Background:

This website is created to entertain the users by providing the movies online via rental, booking tickets online and providing some amazing movies for free.

Outcome:

As we can see that the concept behind our website is awesome, we put our best efforts to make it feel good to the user. So that, the user visits our website frequently.

We have designed our website to be very minimalistic and user- friendly.

Description of the Project:

When you open the website the home page is filled with lots of free content. Once you register, you can have access to all the free content that is available on our website. There are some movies which are put for rental.

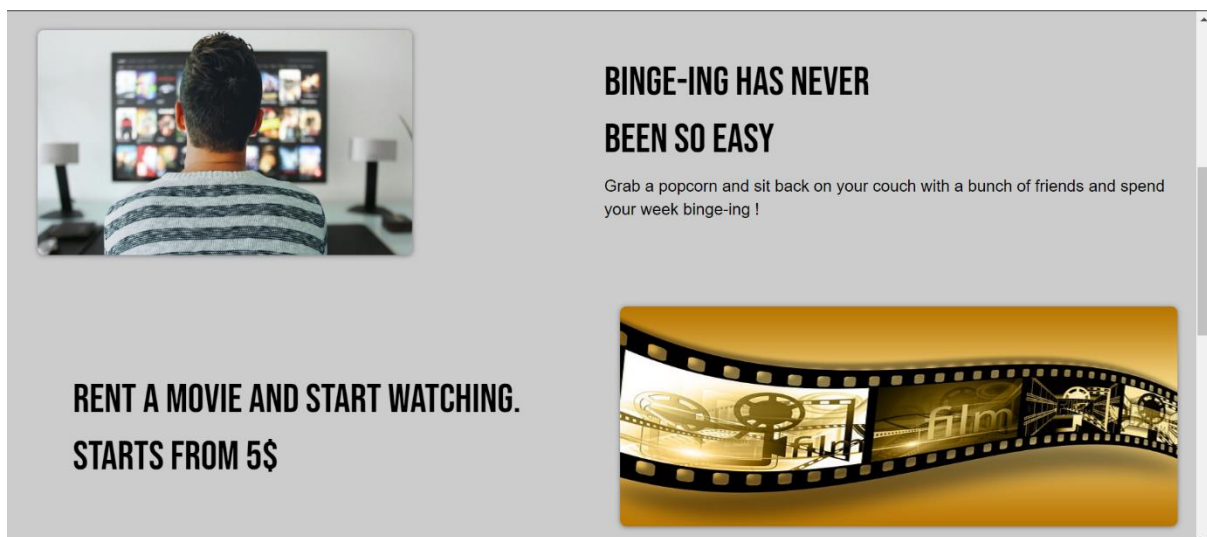

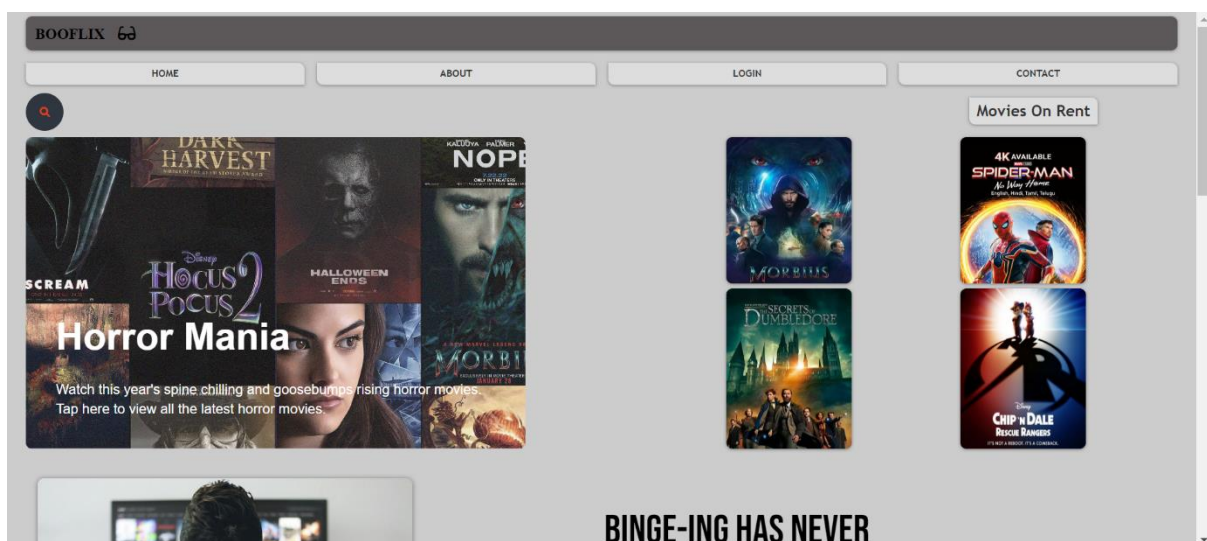

There are other pages on the website like, About, Login and Contact us. The About page provides information about the website's history and the team members who founded it. If you are already a user then you can log in from the login tab, but if you are a new user then you can register from the same tab. The Contact page provides the details of the lead development team, etc. etc.

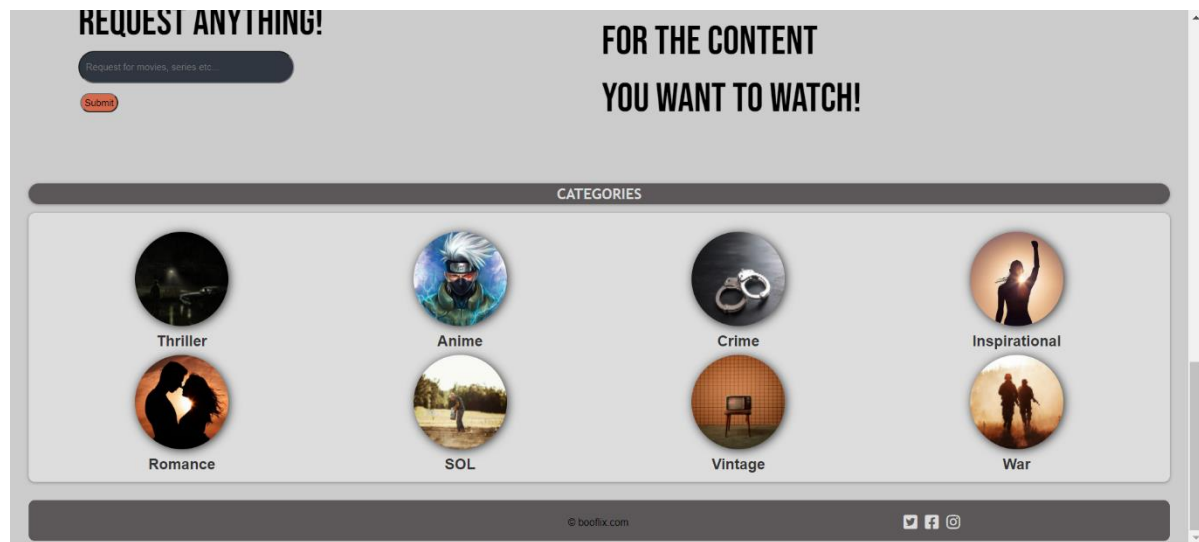

and also the customer care contact details, so that you can talk to our representatives if there is any grievance.

CONCLUSION –

S.W.O.T Analysis –

Strength – Our interactive interface makes it easy for the users to use our website. The range of movies and series we offer to our users is very vast, so they can enjoy the content they want to watch.

Weakness – With our current level of expertise we have created the Landing page and the other pages of the website, but if we had some in-depth knowledge of JavaScript we would have ensured to make it a fully functional website.

Opportunities – This website has immense potential if it were to have JavaScript. We have just created the front-end of our website. But if it had a brain or JavaScript it could have been a fully functional website, thus providing us with more opportunities.

Threats – We aim to provide free content to our users, but this is not allowed in many countries, so the greatest threat that our website would face once it is fully functional is that the countries might put sanctions on our company.
